"Alone we can do so little, together we can do so much" ~ Helen Keller

Elizabeth Esrey is a professional mediator who has been resolving conflict privately and effectively for over 20 years. An early adopter of mediation as a superior approach to litigation, Elizabeth has over 200 hours of conflict resolution training. She is a court approved mediation trainer and mediator with certificates in civil, parent/child, domestic, high-conflict, and Special Education mediation. Elizabeth is sole proprietor of Esrey Mediation, LLC (www.esreymediation.com), which offers conflict resolution services to businesses, communities, and families. She has traveled the world teaching best practices for resolving disputes and conducting mediations. A firm belief that individuals are more likely to live up to agreements they create, Elizabeth works with discerning clients seeking customized resolutions crafted civilly and efficiently in a confidential setting.

Elizabeth earned a BA degree from Loyola University, Chicago and a MEd from University of Chicago. Elizabeth's writings on communication, mediation, and conflict resolution have been published in The Huffington Post, Divorce Magazine, It's Over Easy, Clarity, MOPS, and Your Teen Magazine.

Specializing in community/neighbor disputes, educational concerns, family issues, and business negotiations, Elizabeth puts her clients' needs first. Please call 913/226.8000 for a complimentary consultation. Thank you for your interest. Take care.
